Part 2 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Division 1 Establishment, functions and powers of Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Section 5

Part 2—Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Division 1—Establishment, functions and powers of Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

5 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

There is to be an Independent National Security Legislation Monitor.

6 Functions of the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor has the following functions:
 - (a) to review, on his or her own initiative, the operation, effectiveness and implications of:
 - (i) Australia's counter-terrorism and national security legislation; and
 - (ia) without limiting subparagraph (i), Division 105A of the Criminal Code and any other provision of that Code as far as it relates to that Division; and
 - (ii) any other law of the Commonwealth to the extent that it relates to Australia's counter-terrorism and national security legislation;
 - (b) to consider, on his or her own initiative, whether any legislation mentioned in paragraph (a):
 - (i) contains appropriate safeguards for protecting the rights of individuals; and
 - (ii) remains proportionate to any threat of terrorism or threat to national security, or both; and
 - (iii) remains necessary;

Section 6

- (c) if a matter relating to counter-terrorism or national security is referred to the Monitor by a Minister under section 7—to report on the reference;
 - (d) to assess whether Australia’s counter-terrorism or national security legislation is being used for matters unrelated to terrorism and national security;
 - (e) the function conferred by subsection (1D).
- (1A) If a matter is referred to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor by the Committee on Intelligence and Security, the Monitor may perform the function set out in paragraph (1)(a) or (b) in relation to the matter.
- (1B) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must, as soon as practicable after the third anniversary of the day the National Security Legislation Amendment (Espionage and Foreign Interference) Act 2018 receives the Royal Assent, begin a review under paragraph (1)(a) of the following provisions of Chapter 5 of the Criminal Code:
- (a) Division 82 (sabotage);
 - (b) Part 5.2 (espionage and related offences);
 - (c) Part 5.6 (secrecy of information).
- (1C) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must complete the review under subparagraph (1)(a)(ia) before the end of 5 years after the day the Criminal Code Amendment (High Risk Terrorist Offenders) Act 2016 received the Royal Assent.
- (1D) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must:
- (a) review the operation, effectiveness and implications of the amendments made by the Telecommunications and Other Legislation Amendment (Assistance and Access) Act 2018; and
 - (b) do so as soon as practicable after the 18-month period beginning on the day that Act receives the Royal Assent.
- (2) To avoid doubt, the following are not functions of the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor:

Part 2 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Division 1 Establishment, functions and powers of Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Section 7

- (a) to review the priorities of, and use of resources by, agencies that have functions relating to, or are involved in the implementation of, Australia's counter-terrorism and national security legislation;
 - (b) to consider any individual complaints about the activities of Commonwealth agencies that have functions relating to, or are involved in the implementation of, Australia's counter-terrorism and national security legislation.
- (3) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor has the power to do all things necessary or convenient to be done for or in connection with the performance of the Monitor's functions.

7 References to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor by the Prime Minister or the Attorney-General

- (1) The Prime Minister or the Attorney-General may refer a matter relating to counter-terrorism or national security to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor, either at the Monitor's suggestion or on his or her own initiative.
- (2) A Minister who refers a matter under subsection (1) may alter the terms of the reference.
- (3) The Prime Minister may give the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor directions about the order in which he or she is to deal with references.

7A References to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor by the Committee on Intelligence and Security

- (1) The Committee on Intelligence and Security may refer to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor a matter that the Committee:
 - (a) becomes aware of in the course of performing its functions under subsection 29(1) of the Intelligence Services Act 2001; and
 - (b) considers should be referred to the Monitor.

- (2) It is a function of the Committee on Intelligence and Security to refer the matter to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor.

8 Regard to be had to international obligations and constitutional arrangements

When performing the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor's functions, the Monitor must have regard to:

- (a) Australia's obligations under international agreements (as in force from time to time), including:
 - (i) human rights obligations; and
 - (ii) counter-terrorism obligations; and
 - (iii) international security obligations; and
- (b) arrangements agreed from time to time between the Commonwealth, the States and the Territories to ensure a national approach to countering terrorism.

9 Emphasis to be given to counter-terrorism and national security legislation that has been applied or considered recently

When performing functions relating to Australia's counter-terrorism and national security legislation in a particular financial year, the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must give particular emphasis to provisions of that legislation that have been applied, considered or purportedly applied by employees of agencies that have functions relating to, or are involved in the implementation of, that legislation during that financial year or the immediately preceding financial year.

10 Consultation with agencies etc.

- (1) When performing functions relating to Australia's counter-terrorism and national security legislation, the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must have regard to:
- (a) the functions of agencies that have functions relating to, or are involved in the implementation of, that legislation; and

Part 2 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Division 1 Establishment, functions and powers of Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Section 10

- (b) functions relating to that legislation that are conferred on a person who holds any office or appointment under a law of the Commonwealth or of a State or Territory.
- (2) When performing functions relating to Australia's counter-terrorism and national security legislation, the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may consult with:
- (b) the Ombudsman; or
 - (c) the Inspector-General of Intelligence and Security; or
 - (ca) the Human Rights Commissioner; or
 - (cb) the Privacy Commissioner; or
 - (cc) the head of an agency established by a law of the Commonwealth or of a State or Territory; or
 - (d) a person mentioned in paragraph (1)(b);
- as the Monitor considers necessary.

Division 2—Appointment of Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

11 Appointment

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor is to be appointed by the Governor-General by written instrument, on a part-time basis.
- (2) Before a recommendation is made to the Governor-General for the appointment of a person as the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor, the Prime Minister must consult with the Leader of the Opposition in the House of Representatives.
- (3) A person must not be appointed as the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor unless the person is, in the Governor-General's opinion, suitable for appointment because of the person's qualifications, training or experience.
- (4) A person's appointment as the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor is not invalid because of a defect or irregularity in connection with the person's appointment.

12 Term of appointment

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor holds office for the period specified in the instrument of appointment. The period must not exceed 3 years.
- (2) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor is eligible for reappointment once only.

13 Remuneration and allowances

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor is to be paid such remuneration as is determined by the Remuneration Tribunal. If no determination of that remuneration is in operation, the Monitor is to be paid such remuneration as is prescribed by the regulations.

Section 14

- (2) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor is to be paid the allowances that are prescribed by the regulations.
- (3) This section has effect subject to the Remuneration Tribunal Act 1973.

14 Leave of absence

The Attorney-General may grant leave of absence to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor on the terms and conditions that the Governor-General determines in writing.

15 Outside employment

The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must not engage in any paid employment that conflicts or may conflict with the proper performance of his or her duties without the Attorney-General's written consent.

16 Disclosure of interests to the Attorney-General

The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must give written notice to the Attorney-General of all interests, pecuniary or otherwise, that the Monitor has or acquires and that conflict or could conflict with the proper performance of his or her functions.

17 Other terms and conditions

The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor holds office on such terms and conditions (if any) in relation to matters not provided for by this Act as are determined, in writing, by the Governor-General.

18 Resignation

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may resign by giving to the Governor-General a signed notice of resignation.
- (2) The resignation takes effect on the day on which it is received by the Governor-General or, if a later day is specified in the resignation, on that later day.

19 Termination of appointment

- (1) The Governor-General may terminate the appointment of the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor for misbehaviour or physical or mental incapacity.
- (2) The Governor-General must terminate the appointment of the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor:
 - (a) if the Monitor:
 - (i) becomes bankrupt; or
 - (ii) applies to take the benefit of any law for the relief of bankrupt or insolvent debtors; or
 - (iii) compounds with his or her creditors; or
 - (iv) makes an assignment of his or her remuneration for the benefit of his or her creditors; or
 - (b) if the Monitor fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with section 16; or
 - (c) if the Monitor engages, except with the Attorney-General's written consent, in paid employment that conflicts or may conflict with the proper performance of the Monitor's duties; or
 - (d) if the Monitor is absent, except on leave of absence granted under section 14, for 7 consecutive days or for 14 days in any 12 months.

20 Acting Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

The Attorney-General may appoint a person to act as the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor:

Part 2 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Division 2 Appointment of Independent National Security Legislation Monitor

Section 20

- (a) during a vacancy in the office of the Monitor (whether or not an appointment has previously been made to the office); or
- (b) during a period, or during all periods, when the Monitor:
 - (i) is absent from duty or from Australia; or
 - (ii) is, for any reason, unable to perform the duties of the office;so long as the period, or the total of all periods, is not more than 12 months.

Note: For rules that apply to acting appointments, see section 33A of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

Part 3—Information gathering powers

21 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may hold hearings

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may hold a hearing for the purposes of performing his or her functions under this Act.
- (2) A hearing, or a part of a hearing:
 - (a) may be held in private if the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor so directs; and
 - (b) must be held in private for any time during which a person is giving evidence that discloses operationally sensitive information.Otherwise, a hearing must be held in public.
- (3) A hearing may otherwise be conducted in such a manner as the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor thinks fit.
- (4) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must ensure that a record of a hearing is made.
- (5) A direction given under paragraph (2)(a) is not a legislative instrument.

22 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may summon person

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may, by notice in writing, summon a person to attend a hearing at a time and place specified in the notice:
 - (a) to give evidence; or
 - (b) to produce documents or things specified in the notice.

Note: Failure to comply with a notice is an offence: see section 25.

Section 23

- (2) The notice must:
 - (a) be in writing and be signed by the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor; and
 - (b) be served on the person required to attend a hearing.
- (3) A time specified in a notice must be at least 14 days after the day on which the notice is given.
- (4) A person summoned to appear as a witness at a hearing is entitled to be paid by the Commonwealth any allowances for travelling and other expenses that are prescribed by the regulations.

23 Evidence on oath or by affirmation

- (1) At a hearing, the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may:
 - (a) require a witness to either take an oath or make an affirmation; and
 - (b) administer an oath or affirmation to the witness.

Note 1: Failure to take an oath or make an affirmation is an offence: see section 25.

Note 2: This means that a hearing is a judicial proceeding for the purposes of Part III of the Crimes Act 1914, which creates various offences in relation to judicial proceedings.

- (2) The oath or affirmation is an oath or affirmation that the evidence the person will give will be true.
- (3) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may allow a person attending a hearing who has been sworn, or who has made an affirmation, to give evidence by tendering a written statement and verifying it by oath or affirmation.

24 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may request production of a document or thing

- (1) For the purposes of performing his or her functions under this Act, the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may request, by written notice, a person:

- (a) to give the Monitor the information referred to in the notice; or
- (b) to produce to the Monitor the documents or things referred to in the notice.

Note: Failure to give the information, or produce the documents or things, is an offence: see section 25.

- (2) The notice must:
 - (a) be in writing; and
 - (b) specify the period within which the person must comply with the notice.
- (3) The period specified in a notice must end at least 14 days after the day on which the notice is given.

25 Offences

Failure to attend hearing

- (1) A person commits an offence if:
 - (a) the person is served with a notice to attend a hearing; and
 - (b) the person fails to attend as required by the notice.

Penalty: Imprisonment for 6 months or 30 penalty units, or both.

Failure to swear an oath, make an affirmation or answer a question

- (2) A person commits an offence if:
 - (a) the person is served with a notice to attend a hearing; and
 - (b) either:
 - (i) the person fails to be sworn or to make an affirmation at the hearing; or
 - (ii) the person fails to answer a question at the hearing that the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor requires the person to answer.

Penalty: Imprisonment for 6 months or 30 penalty units, or both.

Section 26

Failure to produce a document or thing

- (3) A person commits an offence if:
- (a) the person receives a notice to produce a document or thing specified in the notice; and
 - (b) the person fails to produce the document or thing that the person was required to produce.

Penalty: Imprisonment for 6 months or 30 penalty units, or both.

Failure to provide information

- (4) A person commits an offence if:
- (a) the person receives a notice to provide information specified in the notice; and
 - (b) the person fails to provide the information that the person was required to provide.

Penalty: Imprisonment for 6 months or 30 penalty units, or both.

Exception—reasonable excuse

- (5) This section does not apply if the person has a reasonable excuse.

Note: A defendant bears an evidential burden in relation to the matter in subsection (5) (see subsection 13.3(3) of the Criminal Code).

- (6) It is a reasonable excuse for a person to fail to:
- (a) answer a question; or
 - (b) produce a document or thing; or
 - (c) provide information;

on the ground that to do so might tend to incriminate the person or expose the person to a penalty.

26 No criminal or civil liability under secrecy provisions

A person who is served with a notice under section 22 or 24 does not commit an offence, and is not liable to any penalty, under a secrecy provision because the person:

- (a) answers a question at a hearing that the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor requires the person to answer; or
- (b) provides information that the person is required to provide in accordance with the notice; or
- (c) produces a document or thing that the person is required to produce in accordance with the notice.

27 Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may retain documents or things

- (1) Subject to section 28, if a document or thing is produced to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor in accordance with section 22 or 24, the Monitor:
 - (a) may take possession of, and make copies of, the document or thing, or take extracts from the document; and
 - (b) may retain possession of the document or thing for such period as is necessary for the performance of the Monitor's functions under this Act.
- (2) While the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor retains the document or thing, the Monitor must allow a person who would otherwise be entitled to possession of the document or thing, or a person authorised by that person:
 - (a) reasonable access to the document for the purposes of inspecting and making copies of, or taking extracts from, it; and
 - (b) reasonable access to the thing.

28 Protection of information and documents

- (1) This section applies if documents having a national security classification or containing operationally sensitive information are provided by an agency to the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor.
- (2) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must:

Section 28

- (a) make arrangements with the head of the agency for the protection of those documents while they remain in the Monitor's possession; and
- (b) ensure that the documents are returned to the agency as soon as possible after the Monitor has examined them.

Part 4—Reporting requirements

29 Annual report

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must prepare and give to the Attorney-General a report (an annual report):
 - (a) relating to the performance of the Monitor's functions as set out in paragraphs 6(1)(a) and (b); and
 - (b) containing such details relating to the performance of the Monitor's function as set out in paragraph 6(1)(c) as the Monitor considers appropriate.
- (2) The annual report must be given to the Attorney-General as soon as practicable after 30 June in each financial year and, in any event, by the following 31 December.
- (2A) If the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor considers that the annual report contains information of the kind referred to in subsection (3), the Monitor must also prepare and give to the Attorney-General, at the same time as the annual report, a version of the report which does not contain that information (a declassified annual report).
- (3) The information specified by this subsection is information of the following kind:
 - (a) any operationally sensitive information; or
 - (b) any information that would or might prejudice:
 - (i) Australia's national security or the conduct of Australia's foreign relations; or
 - (ii) the performance by a law enforcement or security agency of its functions; or
 - (c) any information that, if included in the report, would or might endanger a person's safety; or
 - (d) any information obtained from a document prepared for the purposes of a meeting of:

Section 29

- (i) the Cabinet, or of a Committee of the Cabinet, of the Commonwealth or of a State; or
 - (ii) the Australian Capital Territory Executive or of a committee of that Executive; or
 - (iii) the Executive Council of the Northern Territory or of a committee of that Executive Council; or
 - (e) any information that would disclose the deliberations or decisions of:
 - (i) the Cabinet, or of a Committee of the Cabinet, of the Commonwealth or of a State; or
 - (ii) the Australian Capital Territory Executive or of a committee of that Executive; or
 - (iii) the Executive Council of the Northern Territory or of a committee of that Executive Council.
- (4) In determining whether an annual report contains information of the kind referred to in subsection (3), the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may consult the responsible Minister or responsible Ministers concerned.
- (5) The Attorney-General must cause a copy of:
- (a) each annual report; or
 - (b) if an annual report contains information of the kind referred to in subsection (3)—the corresponding declassified annual report;
- to be presented to each House of the Parliament within 15 sitting days of that House after the day on which he or she receives the report.
- (8) Section 34C of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 does not apply in relation to a report given to the Attorney-General under this section.

30 Report on a reference by the Prime Minister or the Attorney-General

Giving reports to referring Minister

- (1) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor must report on a reference made under section 7 to the Minister who made the reference (the referring Minister).
- (2) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may, before giving his or her report on a reference, give an interim report to the referring Minister on the Monitor's work on the reference.
- (3) The referring Minister may, before the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor gives his or her report on a reference, direct the Monitor to give an interim report to the referring Minister on the Monitor's work on the reference.

Giving copies of reports to non-referring Minister

- (3A) The Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may, if he or she considers it appropriate to do so, give a copy of a report under subsection (1), (2) or (3) to the Minister mentioned in section 7 who did not make the reference.

Declassified reports

- (4) If the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor considers that a report to the referring Minister under subsection (1) or (3) contains information of the kind referred to in subsection 29(3), the Monitor must also prepare and give to the referring Minister, at the same time as the report, a version of the report which does not contain that information (a declassified report).
- (5) In determining whether a report contains information of the kind referred to in subsection 29(3), the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor may consult the responsible Minister or responsible Ministers concerned.

Section 30

Presenting copies of reports to the Parliament

- (6) The referring Minister must cause a copy of:
- (a) a report given to the referring Minister under subsection (1) or (3); or
 - (b) if a report contains information of the kind referred to in subsection 29(3)—the corresponding declassified report;
- to be presented to each House of the Parliament within 15 sitting days of that House after the day on which he or she receives the report.

Part 5—Miscellaneous

31 Immunity from legal action

No action, suit or proceeding may be brought against a person who is, or has been, the Independent National Security Legislation Monitor in relation to anything done, or omitted to be done, in good faith by the Monitor:

- (a) in the performance, or purported performance, of his or her functions; or
- (b) in the exercise, or purported exercise, of his or her powers.

32 Regulations

The Governor-General may make regulations prescribing matters:

- (a) required or permitted by this Act to be prescribed; or
- (b) necessary or convenient to be prescribed for carrying out or giving effect to this Act.

Endnote 3—Legislation history

Endnote 4—Amendment history

Abbreviation key—Endnote 2

The abbreviation key sets out abbreviations that may be used in the endnotes.

Legislation history and amendment history—Endnotes 3 and 4

Amending laws are annotated in the legislation history and amendment history.

The legislation history in endnote 3 provides information about each law that has amended (or will amend) the compiled law. The information includes commencement details for amending laws and details of any application, saving or transitional provisions that are not included in this compilation.

The amendment history in endnote 4 provides information about amendments at the provision (generally section or equivalent) level. It also includes information about any provision of the compiled law that has been repealed in accordance with a provision of the law.

Editorial changes

The Legislation Act 2003 authorises First Parliamentary Counsel to make editorial and presentational changes to a compiled law in preparing a compilation of the law for registration. The changes must not change the effect of the law. Editorial changes take effect from the compilation registration date.

If the compilation includes editorial changes, the endnotes include a brief outline of the changes in general terms. Full details of any changes can be obtained from the Office of Parliamentary Counsel.

Misdescribed amendments

A misdescribed amendment is an amendment that does not accurately describe the amendment to be made. If, despite the misdescription, the amendment can be given effect as intended, the amendment is incorporated into the compiled law and the abbreviation “(md)” added to the details of the amendment included in the amendment history.

If a misdescribed amendment cannot be given effect as intended, the abbreviation “(md not incorp)” is added to the details of the amendment included in the amendment history.
