

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Issued by the authority of the Minister for Veterans and Minister for Defence Personnel

Australian Defence Force Superannuation Act 2015

Australian Defence Force Superannuation Amendment (Trust Deed—Contributions) Instrument 2020

This Instrument amends the Australian Defence Force Superannuation Trust Deed 2015 (the Trust Deed), as made under the Australian Defence Force Superannuation Act 2015 (the Act), to allow certain former long-term ADF members to elect ADF Super as their fund of choice for their new employment and continue to make contributions to their ADF Super account.

The Act was recently amended to clarify that this change is permitted under the Act.

The original policy intent of the ADF Super scheme was to allow serving ADF members and their “employer” (Defence) to contribute to the scheme. Since the scheme’s introduction, however, Government policy now encourages individuals to maintain as few superannuation accounts as possible. As such, as part of the Government’s election commitment, Prime Minister announced that modification to ADF Super would be made to enable former long-term ADF members the ability to continue to contribute to ADF Super in their subsequent employment after leaving the ADF.

This Instrument does not make changes to contributing or preserved members, or pension recipients of the other (now closed) military superannuation schemes (being the Defence Forces Retirement Benefits (DFRB) scheme, the Defence Force Retirement and Benefits (DFRDB) scheme or the Military Superannuation and Benefits (MSB) scheme).

Amendments to the statutory death and invalidity scheme, ADF Cover, as established under the Australian Defence Force Cover Act 2015 are not required, as ADF Cover will remain available only to ADF Super members receiving contributions in relation to their ADF service. This Instrument will allow the Commonwealth Superannuation Corporation (CSC) to introduce other insurance arrangements for former long-term ADF members.

Details of the Instrument are set out in the Attachment A.

The Statement of Compatibility with Human Rights is at Attachment B.

Section 8 of the Act specifies that CSC must consent to the amendments to the Trust Deed or if the amendments relate to certain matters. CSC has confirmed their consent to the amendments in a letter to the Minister for Veterans and Defence Personnel on 11 February 2020.

The instrument would be a legislative instrument for the purposes of the Legislation Act 2003.

Commencement

The instrument would commence the day after registration.

Regulatory Impact Statement

The Office of Best Practice Regulation advised that no regulatory impact statement was required (OBPR ID 42642).

Consultation

STATEMENT OF COMPATIBILITY WITH HUMAN RIGHTS

Prepared in accordance with Part 3 of the Human Rights (Parliamentary Scrutiny) Act 2011

Australian Defence Force Superannuation Amendment (Trust Deed—Contributions) Instrument 2020

The Australian Defence Force Superannuation Amendment (Trust Deed—Contributions) Instrument 2020 (the Instrument) is compatible with the human rights and freedoms recognised or declared in the international instruments listed in section 3 of the Human Rights (Parliamentary Scrutiny) Act 2011.

Overview of the Instrument

1. Since 1 July 2016, ADF Super has been the default superannuation fund for permanent ADF members and Reserve members rendering continuous full-time service. For members who joined the ADF since that date, Defence makes contributions to ADF Super (or another complying superannuation fund chosen by the member) at 16.4% of their salary.
2. ADF members who are members of the now closed Military Superannuation and Benefits (MSB) scheme, may choose to opt-out of MSB and become an ADF Super members.
3. At present, when an ADF Super member leaves the ADF, they can no longer make contributions to ADF Super. Any superannuation contributions from a subsequent civilian employer, for example, must be made to a different superannuation fund. The Instrument amends the current arrangements so that when ADF Super members leave the ADF, they can continue to make contributions to the fund.
4. This Instrument does not make amendments to the other ADF superannuation schemes.
5. This Instrument does not amend the current provisions under ADF Cover, which will remain available only to ADF Super members receiving contributions in relation to their ADF service. This Instrument will allow CSC to introduce other insurance arrangements for former long-term ADF Super members.
6. These amendments increase superannuation choice for ADF Super members when they leave the permanent ADF or are no longer rendering continuous full-time service.

Human rights implications

This Instrument promotes the following human rights:

- Article 7, International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR), the right to just and favourable conditions of work
- Article 9, ICESCR, the right to social security
- Article 11, ICESCR, the right to an adequate standard of living

This Instrument proposes to extend the existing superannuation arrangements, which provide just and favourable conditions of work for ADF members. The new arrangements will allow employer contributions from employers other than the ADF to contribute to scheme, and for members to also make personal contributions. This will provide an enhanced standard of living and social security arrangements for former ADF members.

Conclusion

7. The Instrument is compatible with human rights because it promotes and advances favourable condition of work and social security, and does not otherwise engage any human rights.
